Boston College.

This institution, controlled and directed by the Fathers of the Society of Jesus, was chartered May 25, 1863, by the State of Massachusetts, under the corporate title of "THE TRUSTEES OF THE BOSTON COLLEGE IN BOSTON," with power and authority "to confer such degrees as are usually conferred by colleges in this Commonwealth, except medical degrees."

Under the act of incorporation, schools were opened September 5, 1864.

The same act of incorporation provides "that no student of said College shall be refused admission to, or denied any of the privileges, honors, or degrees of, said College on account of the religious opinions he may entertain." Students that are not Catholics will not be required to participate in any distinctively Catholic exercise, nor will any undue influence be exerted to induce a change of religious belief. But though no evidence of creed will be a bar to admission, evidence will be demanded of the candidate to prove good moral character.

System of Education.

1. The educational system of BOSTON COLLEGE is substantially that of all other Colleges of the Society of Jesus. Since the publication of the Monumenta Pedagogica Germaniæ by the German government, and the Great Educators' Series, by Scribner's Sons, those who are desirous of making either a scientific or historical study of that system have abundant sources of information. To these publications are referred readers interested in studying the detailed working of the system and the practical method of applying its principles as elaborated in the Ratio Studiorum.

The subjoined brief outline of the underlying principles of the system, the dominant features of its method, and the object aimed at by its teaching will give a general idea of its purpose.

2. Education is understood by the Fathers of the Society in its completest sense, as the full and harmonious development of all those faculties that are distinctive of man. It is not, therefore, mere instruction or the communication of knowledge. In fact, the acquisition of knowledge, though it necessarily accompanies any right system of education, is a secondary result of education. Learning is an instrument of education, not its end. The end is culture, and mental and moral development.

3. Understanding, then, clearly the purposes of education, such instruments of education, that is, such studies, sciences or languages, are chosen as will most effectively further that end. These studies are chosen, moreover, only in preparation, and in such numbers as are sufficient and required. A student who is to be educated will not be forced, in the short period of his college course, and with his immature faculties, to study a multiplicity of the languages and sciences into which the vast world of modern knowledge has been scientifically divided. If two or more sciences, for instance, give similar training to some mental faculty, that one is chosen which combines the most effective training with the largest and most fundamental knowledge.

4. The purpose of the mental training given is not proximately to fit the student for some special employment or profession, but to give him such a general, vigorous and rounded development as will enable him to cope successfully even with the unforeseen emergencies of life. While giving the mind stay, it tends to remove the insularity of thought and want of mental elasticity, which is one of the most hopeless and disheartening results of specialism on students who have not brought to their studies the uniform mental training given by a systematic college course. The studies, therefore, are so graded and classified as to be adapted to the mental growth of the student and the scientific unfolding of knowledge; they are so chosen and communicated that the student shall gradually and harmoniously reach, as nearly as may be, that measure of culture of which he is capable.

5. It is fundamental in the system of the Society of Jesus that different studies have distinct and peculiar educational values. Mathematics, the Natural Sciences, Language and History are complementary instruments of education to which the doctrine of equivalence cannot be applied. The specific training given by one cannot be supplied by another.

6. Furthermore, Language and History have always been held in esteem as leading factors in education. Mathematics and the Natural Sciences bring the student into contact with the material aspects of nature, and exercise the inductive and deductive powers of reason. Language and History effect a higher union; they are manifestations of spirit to spirit, and by their study and for their acquirement the whole mind of man is brought into widest and subtlest play. The acquisition of Language especially calls for delicacy of judgment and fineness of perception, and for a constant, keen, and quick use of the reasoning powers. A special importance is attached to the classic tongues of Rome and Greece. As they are languages with a structure and idiom remote from the language of the student, the study of them lays bare before him the laws of thought and logic, and requires attention, reflection and analysis of the fundamental relations between thought and grammar. In studying them the student is led to the fundamental recesses of language. They exercise him in exactness of conception in grasping the foreign thought, and in delicacy of expression in clothing that thought in the dissimilar garb of the mother tongue. While recognizing, then, in education the necessity and importance of Mathematics and the Natural Sciences, which unfold the inter-dependence and laws of the world of time and space, the Jesuit system of education has unwaveringly kept Language in a position of honor as an instrument of culture.

7. Lastly, the system does not share the illusion of those who seem to imagine that education, understood as an enriching and stimulating of the intellectual faculties, has a morally elevating influence in human life. While conceding the effects of education in energizing and refining imagination, taste, understanding and powers of observation, it has always held that knowledge and intellectual development of themselves have no moral efficacy. Religion only can purify the heart, and guide and strengthen the will.

8. The Jesuit system of education, then, aims at developing, side by side, the moral and intellectual faculties of the student, and sending forth to the world men of sound judgment, of acute and rounded intellect, of upright and manly conscience. And since men are not made better citizens by the mere accumulation of knowledge, without a guiding and controlling force, the principal faculties to be developed are the moral faculties. Moreover, morality is to be taught continuously; it must be the underlying base, the vital force supporting and animating the whole organic structure of education. It must be the atmosphere the student breathes; it must suffuse with its light all that he reads, illumining what is noble and exposing what is base, giving to the true and false their relative light and shade.

In a word, the purpose of Jesuit teaching is to lay a solid substructure in the whole mind and character for any superstructure of science, professional and special, also, for the building up of moral life, civil and religious.

Studies.

9. It is one of the decided advantages of the system followed in this College, that the student may begin his studies in the Preparatory School and then pass on, through the college course to graduation, in the same institution. This secures, besides the moral influence thus gained, a uniform and homogeneous course of teaching and of training. The result of such a course of study is a continuous and normal development of the mental faculties along well defined lines, and the possession of a clear and coherent system of principles upon which any special courses may afterwards safely rest.

Courses.

The College offers two Courses of instruction : the Classical and English.

I. CLASSICAL.

10. In the Classical Course the Ratio Studiorum is observed and the studies given in the subjoined schedules are pursued. The full course requires eight years ; four of which are spent in the Preparatory classes, and the remainder in the regular College classes. One hour a day is devoted to Mathematics, two hours a week are given to the study of Modern Languages, two hours a week during the Sophomore year are assigned to the study of General Chemistry, and two hours a week given to Analytical Chemistry during the Junior year. Two hours a week, moreover, of laboratory work are exacted from students of Chemistry and Physics. The two last years of the course are almost exclusively devoted to Logic, Metaphysics, Ethics, Political Economy and the History of Philosophy.

II. ENGLISH.

11. To the Classical Course was added, September, 1879, at the special instance of the Most Reverend Archbishop, a course in which the studies of the Ancient Languages is superseded by application to English. The classes in Modern Languages, the Natural Sciences and Mathematics are the same as in the Classical Course. Philosophy, however, is studied in English. This course offers the advantages of a thorough English education to that class of our youth, who, not intending to follow a profession, stand in no special need of classical training; but for whom it is of importance that they be well grounded in their faith and spend some years at least under healthy, religious training. On completion of the course a diploma of graduation is given, but no degrees are conferred.

12. SPECIAL CLASSES have been added to the course of studies in the Preparatory School for the benefit of young men wishing to prepare to enter College or Professional Schools. Students whose age, mental development, previous attainments and habits of study are not such as to give reasonable expectation of profit from the courses will be discouraged from entering. The Faculty reserves the right of removing students from these classes if they are found unfit or unworthy. The courses are arranged so that young men having the needed prior preparation (a) may fit themselves to enter Medical, Law or Scientific Schools; (b) may, if they are sufficiently advanced in their English studies and in Mathematics, prepare for entrance into the Freshman class of the College in a shorter time than is required for those who enter the Preparatory School.

The courses in preparation for Professional Schools will not be open, unless at least twelve students for a course are enrolled.

Religious Training.

13. The moral and religious part of education is considered to be incomparably the most important. Catholic students, if not excused for good reason, are required to recite the daily catechetical lesson, to attend the weekly lecture on the doctrines of the Church, to make the annual retreat, to present themselves to their confessor every month, and, if they have not received the Sacraments of Penance, Confirmation, or Holy Eucharist, to prepare for their reception.

Literary and Athletic Facilities.

14. There are various Societies in which, under the moderatorship of College officers, the work of the classroom is supplemented, or special fields in the liberal arts are cultivated.

A choice collection of books, numbering about four thousand, affords the student ample means, both for the preparation of lessons and themes, and for reading in connection with his studies.

For his physical development, provision has been made in the well-equipped gymnasium. Here he can enjoy the advantages, not only of a complete apparatus, track, baths, etc., but also of a competent and responsible instructor, who will direct and control his exercises. A small fee covering expenses will be charged.

Class Standing.

15. For each memory lesson, according to its excellence, the scholar receives a mark, grading from ten down; for translation, from twenty; and for themes or composition, from thirty; as the labor of preparation of the various exercises, and their relative importance, are considered to be to each other as one, two, and three.

16. A report of each student's class standing is sent to parents or guardians at the end of each term. This report is, after inspection, to be signed by the parents or guardians and returned to the Prefect of Studies.

17. On the scale used 100 is the highest mark and 0 the lowest. The student's rank is determined by his position in one of five grades: A, very good, 100-90; B, good, 90-80; C, fairly good, 80-70; D, below 60, deficient.

At the end of each month public proclamation is made of the average of all marks in the separate departments of Classics, Mathematics and Modern Languages. The average of these monthly averages is what is termed the average of monthly results; at the middle examination averages are given in like manner for the various branches, and a common examination average is struck. To obtain the term average, that of the monthly results and of the examinations are combined in a ratio of two to one.

18. In the second term or session the same method is followed, and the year's results are seen in the average obtained from the combination of those of the two terms. According to this average of results for the year, class honors and promotions are determined. The medal and premium are conferred on the first two students who have reached the highest annual average above 93; "honorable mention," on those above 85. An average of 60 is required for promotion. To prevent exclusive devotion to one pursuit it has been found necessary for culpable failure in Mathematics, Modern Languages, or Natural Sciences to refuse promotion in the main class. Hence students whose general average is above 60, but who have fallen below 60 in some studies, will be "conditioned" in those studies, and will not be promoted until the condition is removed by a satisfactory examination.

19. Parents and guardians should observe that absence and tardiness, even when excusable, affect class standing.

No student will be promoted from any class till his progress justifies advancement.

Degrees.

20. At the end of the year devoted to Philosophy, the eighth in the Classical Course, the degree of Bachelor of Arts will be conferred on those students who shall have attained the required yearly averages and passed satisfactory final examinations.

21. For the further degree of Master of Arts it will be required that the applicant shall have continued his studies in College one year, under direction of the Faculty.

Admission.

22. Boston College is for day scholars.

No student will be admitted who does not reside with his parents or immediate relatives, or, if this is impossible, with persons duly approved by the President of the College. Those who come from other institutions must show certificates of honorable dismissal.

23. Applicants for admission to the Freshman class of the College must pass a satisfactory examination in the studies of the Preparatory School. A scheme of the subject-matter will be found on page 56. Applicants from certain schools preparing students to enter college will be admitted on presenting their certificate of graduation.

24. Candidates for admission to higher classes must pass the entrance examination and an examination on subjects previously studied by the class they propose to enter.

25. On account of age or peculiar circumstances, exemption from certain studies is sometimes conceded, in which case the scholar is placed "out of course" and is not reckoned a candidate for honors or graduation. No student failing in examinations may compete for prizes.

Terms.

26. The charge for tuition is thirty dollars per session of five months. The bill for the first term will be presented on or before October 1st, and is to be paid before November 1st; the bill for the second term will be presented on or before March 1st, and is to be paid before April 1st.

Students of Natural Science are charged an extra fee of five dollars per session, payable before entrance to the class.

Students following the optional course of Spanish are charged five dollars admission payable before entering the class.

General Regulations.

27. The students will be admitted to the gymnasium at 8.30; to the class-room at 8.50.

All students of the College classes must be in their respective class-rooms at 9 o'clock; those who come later must apply for an admission ticket to the Prefect of Discipline.

Exemption from any of the classes or other exercises of the College must be obtained by parents or guardians. In no case will the matter be treated of with the students themselves. In case of absence or tardiness a note of excuse from parents or guardians will be exacted.

Any conduct unbecoming the character of a gentleman will be regarded as a violation of the College rules.

Religious motives being habitually appealed to, little need has been experienced of frequent or severe punishment.

Flagrant offences, such as are detrimental to the reputation of the College, or are obstructive of the good of other pupils, are grounds for suspension or for conditional or absolute expulsion.

Parental Co-operation.

28. The efforts of teachers and prefects will be much facilitated if the co-operation of parents can be secured.

Parents are, therefore, earnestly requested :

1st.—To insist upon daily study at home for two or three hours at least.

2d.—To notify the Prefect speedily in case of the withdrawal of their sons, or of necessary detention from or tardy arrival at, school ; of failure to receive the report.

3d.—To attend to notifications—always sent by the Prefect in the case of an unexplained absence, or for lessons notably bad during a considerable length of time.

4th. To require and examine the report, and not to omit inquiry regarding marks which fall below 70.

Daily Orders.

29. The usual hours for school are from 9 A. M., to 2.30 P. M., with short recesses at convenient intervals. Students of Natural Sciences are expected to make forty-five hours laboratory work each term outside of the usual school hours.

Special arrangements will be necessary in each individual case to excuse late arrival. In every case the reasons for exemption are to be presented by parents or guardians.

During the progress of the examinations the time for closing will be somewhat anticipated.

Sessions and Holidays.

30. The first session begins on the second Tuesday of September; the second, the first Tuesday of February; but students are not precluded from entering at other times. Schools will close by Graduation Exercises on Wednesday, June 19, of the coming year.

The following are ordinary holidays: —

Every Saturday.

The pastor of St. Mary's selects the candidates from among the pupils of the parish school, in which the Scholarships are won by competition.

Two Scholarships, founded by REV. WILLIAM ORR, of Cambridge. The Reverend founder has the privilege of selecting the candidates for these Scholarships in conjunction with the President of the College.
